FUNDERS SUPPORT COMMUNITY GROWTH

More than 200 people attended the Phoenix Faith and Community Collaborative Summit funded by St. Luke's Health Initiatives and brought into being by Tanner Community Development Corporation. Attendees became active members in one of ten asset-based community development teams focused on issues like chronic disease prevention, community revitalization, HIV/AIDS, and climate change. They've chosen to focus on the whole glass: the issues in the "half-empty" part, but also the assets found in the "half-full" part. And that's what it's all about: engaging people in what they care about in order to bring about meaningful and lasting community change.
